

SOUTHWESTERN OHIO CITIES HIT BY STORMS

1933 GRADUATE ROLL CLIMBING; 173 ARE ELIGIBLE

All-Time Record Breaking Class Awaiting Diplomas

MORE NAMES ARE ADDED TO LIST

Number of Students, Picking Up Extra Credits, Will Qualify

With the advancement of several students obtaining necessary credits in industrial arts classes, 173 boys and girls, a record-breaking number, are eligible for graduation from Salem High school at commencement exercises on Thursday night, June 15.

Pick Up Credits
At least four additional students have been ranked among the prospective graduates through extra-credit work attained in the school's manual arts classes, held twice weekly under the direction of Holland Cameron. The students, who formerly lacked necessary credits for graduation, will now be listed among those in line for diplomas at the June commencement event.

The arts classes are conducted every Tuesday evening and on Saturday mornings with one-half credit being awarded for each semester's work in the subject.

The 1933 class will outnumber by 17 the record-breaking class of a year ago, when a total of 156 were granted diplomas. Arrangements for the commencement exercises are being completed by the senior class and school officials.

Await Final Functions
Besides arranging for the commencement exercises upper classmen are busy preparing for other special functions, including the junior-senior "prom" on June 2, the baccalaureate service on June 11, the senior farewell banquet June 13 and finally, following their exodus from scholastic careers, the Salem High School Alumni association banquet and dance on Friday night, June 16.

Seniors will begin burning the proverbial "midnight oil" early next month, sharpening their wits for final examinations which will be held June 7 and 8. General exams for all students of the city's schools will be held June 9, 12 and 13.

Seek Referendum On Mosier Measure

A referendum opposing the Mosier bill calling for constitutional conventions for ratification or rejection of constitutional amendments is being sought by Salem organizations supporting the Eighteenth amendment.

The Mosier bill, its opponents claim, places into the hands of congested areas in larger cities the fate of the prohibition and other amendments. It that 52 delegates selected for the conventions are elected at large from the whole state instead of being elected by congressional or legislative districts.

Petitions seeking a referendum on the bill are being circulated in Salem by members of the W. C. T. U., Ministerial association and other forces allied in the support of prohibition.

This referendum petition was requested by 2,000 citizens from all parts of Ohio, who gathered at Memorial hall, Columbus, April 19, last.

Gandhi Freed

Mahatma Gandhi, champion of India's "untouchables," was released from prison yesterday, after his three-week fast began.

The Mahatma asks amnesty for all political prisoners and British authorities, following his release, have said his demands will be considered.

GANDHI DRIVE IS ABANDONED

London to Consider His Plea for Amnesty for Political Prisoners

POONA, India, May 9.—The Mahatma Gandhi is endeavoring to survive his three weeks' fast on a diet of boiled water, salt, and soda.

The spiritual leader of millions of Indians is just as certain that he will survive as are his physicians that he will die.

The Mahatma is passing the period of the fast in the sumptuous Poona bungalow of a devoted follower, Lady Vittal das Thackeray, widow of a Bombay merchant. The 63-year old Nationalist was taken there last night from Yeroda prison.

Released From Prison

He was released from the prison, where he was held 16 months for his civil disobedience campaign against the government, a few hours after starting the fast. Gandhi announced his civil disobedience campaign was being abandoned for a month. He insisted this proclamation was voluntary although abandonment had been the condition long demanded by the government in return for his release.

Gandhi sat today in a pillowed chair on the marble verandah of the Bombay widow's bungalow. He insisted he would not seek any advantage from his release and that he was ready to go back to prison if the government and the Nationalist congress failed to reach an agreement on political problems in the meanwhile.

His fast is not connected with this issue, but in his own words, is intended to remove bitterness, purify hearts and make clear that his movement in behalf of India's lowly "untouchables" is wholly moral.

Referring to his civil disobedience campaign, he declared his views are unchanged but since he had been told his followers would suffer terribly.

New Junior Music Group Organized

The Salem Music Study club announced today the organization of a new juvenile music study club, with 45 members enrolled.

Junior High students make up the roll and officers for the new unit are: President, Jean McCarthy; vice president, Robert Battin; secretary, Meta McCave; treasurer, Ethel French.

Mrs. Frank Stoudt, president of the senior music club, and Mrs. E. E. Dyball, are supervisors.

The club will hold its meetings every two weeks and the next meeting will be at 3:30 p. m. Tuesday, May 16, at the assembly room in the Junior High building.

In its efforts to interest young people of the city in better music, the senior club has sponsored the organization of two other clubs here.

The Junior Music club, made up of high school students, and the Musical Arts club, most of its members being graduates of Salem High school who had been affiliated with the Junior club.

L. T. Skeggs Rites Slated Wednesday

YOUNGSTOWN, May 9.—Funeral service for Leonard T. Skeggs, former general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., will be held at 3 p. m. Wednesday at the Westminster Presbyterian church.

Rev. Stephen Palmer and Rev. Henry White of Elmira, N. Y., will officiate. Interment will be in Forest Lawn Memorial park.

The body will lie in state at Orr's Funeral home from 1 to 5 and from 7 to 9 p. m. today.

Pallbearers will be David Sutherland, J. E. Shaw, D. H. Fairfield, W. H. Mead, Raymond Johnson, Raymond Witchey, Howard Jones and Paul Davies, all Y. M. C. A. secretaries.

TWO KIDNAPERS ARE NABBED IN ILLINOIS PLOT

Plans for Abduction Are Known To Police Beforehand

$25,000 RANSOM
WAS TO BE ASKED

Wealthy Executive, "Victim", Permits Himself To Be Carried Off

(By Associated Press)
FREEPORT, Ill., May 9.—A fantastic story of how a 54-year-old wealthy local manufacturing company executive allowed himself to be kidnapped for $25,000 ransom was unfolded today as the victim was safe at home again and his two alleged abductors were in jail.

The man, William Trevillian, vice president of the W. T. Rawleigh company, was found by authorities late last night bound and gagged in a cabin near Durand, Ill., a few hours after being seized by two men as he left his office for the day. Two men in the cabin with him were arrested as the kidnappers. They are:

William Stubbe, 27, Rock Grove, Ill., and reported to be formerly of Monroe, Wis., and La Verne Moore, 21, Freeport, upon whom officers said they found the ransom note threatening "hot irons on his hide" if the $25,000 was not forthcoming.

Informed Beforehand

The story of the kidnapping was one in which the law had been completely informed beforehand of the kidnap plans and followed their development. Sheriff C. J. Weller of LaSalle, Ill., said:

"The informant, Sheriff Weller said, were two LaSalle men whose names he refused to divulge. He said they came to Freeport looking for work and met Moore, who urged them to enter the plot with the promise of rich rewards."

Returning to LaSalle, Weller said the men told him of the plan and he advised them to tell Moore and he would go through with it. Meanwhile, Weller told federal authorities in Chicago so that when the actual kidnapping occurred both state and federal officers were on the scene.

Stubbe, married and the father of two children, according to the plans revealed by the sheriff, was to receive $2,000 for providing the hide-out, and Moore was to get $8,000 as his share in raising the ransom. The balance of $15,000 was to be divided between the two LaSalle aids.

2 DOOMED MEN GET REPRIEVE

Pair Accused In Guard's Murder May Be Given Another Trial

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, O., May 9.—Chester Probaske, 25, of Cleveland, and Merrell E. Chandler, 22, Columbus Negro, sentenced to die in the electric chair Wednesday night for the murder of a Mansfield reformatory guard, were granted a reprieve today by Governor George White.

The two, along with James Allen, 21, Hamilton Negro, were found guilty of the murder of Guard Frank Hanger during an attempt to escape.

The reprieve is effective until July 10, 1933. In the meantime, the governor said he felt another trial would throw additional light on the cases. He cited as one of his reasons for intervening the fact that Allen's conviction had been reversed by the district court of appeals and remanded to the Richmond county courts.

Coppock to Speak At Yearly Meeting

Ralph S. Coppock, of Alliance, brother of Mrs. Harry Parsons, North Ellsworth ave., will be one of the speakers at the fifth annual conference of young people of Ohio held at the Emmanuel Lutheran church, South Broadway, on Monday, June 5.

Coppock, a teacher in the Alliance High school, is well known in the district.

The Christian Endeavor society of the First Friends church here probably will be represented at the conference.

Boys' Band to Play At Baptist Service

The boys band of the Knights of Pythias home, Springfield, O., will furnish special music at the Mother's day services next Sunday morning at the Baptist church.

The Bible school session will open at 9:30 a. m. and the band will give a half hour program at the opening of the school.

Every mother attending the Bible school hour will be given a gift of recognition by the school. A special class will be arranged for visiting mothers.

Young Voyager

Apparently regarding her long trip as nothing out of the ordinary, seven-year-old Virginia Bennett, daughter of the late Arnold Bennett, one of Britain's most celebrated novelists, is pictured as she arrived at New York on the S. S. Aquitania. The little lady traveled unaccompanied to join her mother in the United States.

CROWDS BOO AT HEARING ON TAX PLAN

"Battle of Words" Under Way Before Crowded House Chamber

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, O., May 9.—The "battle of words" over Governor George White's two per cent coupon sales tax proposal got under way in a crowded house chamber this afternoon.

Protestants jammed both the galleries and the floor as Chairman William Goodwin of the special joint legislative tax committee, rapped for order.

"Boos" greeted him when he declared the public hearing was being held to give hearing to those who desired to discuss the sales tax. The "boos" came as the chairman spoke the words "sales tax."

Quite a few of the delegations which jammed the large house chamber were badges identifying them as from "Cincinnati," "Norwood," "Hamilton," and other places throughout the state. Some carried buttons and signs reading "no sales tax."

Immediately after gaining the attention of the throng, Chairman Goodwin introduced the first witness—P. A. Howell, of Sidney, representing the Ohio Tax Payers' League.

Gardner Attends Nazarene Meeting

Rev. C. Warren Jones, Alliance, was re-elected superintendent of the Pittsburgh district of the Church of the Nazarene at the 25th annual meeting which closed Sunday at New Castle, Pa.

The Salem church is included in the Pittsburgh district and the pastor, Rev. C. L. Gardner, was among the group in attendance from the local church.

Rev. Jones will start his seventh year in this office. The 1934 assembly will be at Alliance.

Approximately 150 delegates attended the New Castle meeting, representing the churches in Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

District Lecturer Holds Inspection

Guy W. Jacobs, Steubenville, district lecturer of the 24th Masonic district, conducted the annual inspection for Salem City lodge No. 982, P. & A. M., Monday evening at Masonic temple, East State st. He complimented the lodge for its work.

Dinner was served preceding the meeting by members of Salem chapter No. 334, Order of the Eastern Star.

Twenty-four different lodges were represented. Masons were in attendance from Rochester, Pa., Steubenville, Warren, Youngstown, and other towns in this vicinity.

Lutheran Pastors Gather Here June 5

A conference of American Emmanuel Lutheran church pastors of the Northeastern Ohio district will be held at the Emmanuel Lutheran church, South Broadway, on Monday, June 5.

Plans for the gathering were arranged at a sectional conference of the pastors at the Emmanuel Lutheran church, Warren, Monday, Rev. B. E. Rutsky, pastor of the Salem church, attended the event.

Fifteen pastors of the district will attend the Salem gathering.

MAY 23 IS THE LAST DAY FOR PAYMENT OF DELINQUENT WATER BILLS. SERVICE WILL BE DISCONTINUED AFTER THAT DATE.

RAILROAD BUSINESS HERE MOUNTS; GAINS REPORTED IN OTHER LINES

Local P. R. R. Office Reports 19 Per Cent Boost In April

A definite increase in business for the month of April over the preceding month, as reported today by officials of the Pennsylvania railroad here, reflects, to a large extent, improvement in a majority of Salem's varied industries.

April's business, according to figures at the Pennsylvania's offices, was 19 per cent better here last month than it was in March, and on a par with business in April a year ago.

The figures, officials pointed out, indicate a definite upward trend following the bank holiday and a readjustment of business which, many executives believe, will continue.

Good All Along Division

The fact is, railroad officials here pointed out, local conditions are largely similar to conditions all along the division.

Prospects for the present month are correspondingly good, they pointed out.

Naturally, increased freight, both inbound and outbound, reflect an increase in operations industrially and statements today by executives at most of Salem's plants bear this out.

A pickup for the month of April was reported by the Electric Furnace company. Indications remain favorable at the present time.

Salem Unemployed To Pick Delegates For National Meet

Election of delegates for the national unemployed convention at Columbus on July 2, 3 and 4, will be held by members of the Salem unemployed league at the Memorial building at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Five delegates will be elected to represent the Salem organization at the national gathering.

League officials announced today that the local organization is in no manner affiliated with communistic or "red" societies responsible for prevailing radicalism throughout the nation, saying that the league is a representative unit of unemployed men and women organized for the purpose of benefitting the city and its residents.

Radicalism, they announced, is not tolerated in the league or at its meetings.

Approximately 200 persons attended the league's meetings every week, officials said. The attendance of all members or any other men and women of the city is urged at Wednesday's session.

STORES OPPOSE CHANGE IN TIME

Daylight Savings Would Prompt Confusion, Is Belief

Salem merchants are opposed to daylight savings time, it developed at a meeting of the Salem Business bureau Tuesday morning.

Too much confusion would result, affecting business adversely, if Salem should adopt daylight savings and other cities and towns in the district continue on the present schedule, the merchants decided.

After discussing a report that manufacturing plants are being closed earlier in the afternoon, the merchants expressed a willingness to close their stores at 5 p. m. each day except Saturday during the summer months if the manufacturers decide to close all plants an hour earlier. One plant already has started on this schedule, beginning work earlier in the morning and closing earlier in the afternoon.

A representative of the bureau will meet with members of a committee of council possibly Thursday night to explain the merchants' attitude toward daylight savings time. Turning the clock back was regarded as detrimental to business, since other towns in the district have taken no step to make a similar change.

Sale Prevented

WILMINGTON, O., May 9.—Invoking a new amendment to the national bankruptcy act for the first time in southern Ohio, an attorney prevented a sheriff's sale of 320 acres of farm land owned by Cora L. Talmadge.

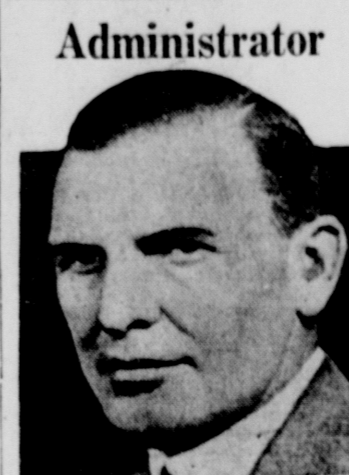

A petition was filed in federal court at Cincinnati asking an extension of time in which Miss Talmadge could settle with creditors. She valued her property at $22,912 and said her debts totaled $17,782.

Plan Memorial

DAYTON, O., May 9.—Orville Wright last night was presented with a silver-plated shovel which was used to turn the first earth at the Wright memorial near Kitty Hawk, N. C.

The shovel was presented at a dinner of the Engineers' club by Capt. William J. Tate, veteran light-house keeper near the scene of the first airplane flight of Orville and his brother Wilbur Wright.

Administrator

George Peck, of Moline, Ill., who, it is reported in Washington, will be the likely appointee for the position of Chief Administrator of the farm measure new near final passage in Congress. Peck, long a student of agricultural problems, recently participated in a White House conference on the application of the bill, designed to raise the price of farm commodities.

POLICE LAUNCH TRAFFIC DRIVE

Better Observance Of Rules Demanded By Chief Stoffer

Declaring that leniency with law-breaking motorists has failed to bring desired results, Police Chief Ralph Stoffer today announced that a concerted campaign for the enforcement of Salem traffic regulations will be launched here Wednesday.

Double-parking, parking of automobiles in prohibited zones, driving through "red" signal lights, reckless operation of machines and other violations will be prosecuted Chief Stoffer announced.

In conjunction with the opening of the campaign Stoffer said that "no parking" zones will be lined off in the downtown district and residential areas as soon as the weather permits. Orders that all machines seen parked in the prohibited zones be immediately "tagged" have been issued to patrolmen.

Stoffer reported that, while the drive is held to strike at violators of all laws, special stress will be placed on the elimination of double-parking in downtown areas.

"We have been lenient with the drivers who insist on parking for their own convenience and who cause no end of trouble," the chief said. "We have warned them time after time but to no avail. From now on they will be ordered into court."

"Too many drivers, eyes glued on the rear view mirror looking for an officer, park far from the curb, awaiting the return of a friend who has run into a store to make a purchase. Others read while they wait and, when asked to move, become indignant."

"Every street can accommodate only so many lanes of traffic. Salem streets are too small for double parking, serious congestion always results, and from now on, every effort will be made to eliminate this practice among drivers."

Hits Trucks, Also

Stoffer's edict will also affect drivers of trucks who he said, have habitually been parking away from the curb to make deliveries, while motorists who are seen by patrolmen to drive through traffic signal lights showing "red" or those ignoring signs at "stop" streets will also be given tags and ordered to appear in court.

"When hundreds of automobiles are traveling the streets daily the driver of every one of them must always be on the alert, abide by city statutes and to his part towards the elimination of accidents," he said. "Arrests are made in the interests of the drivers who do obey laws which have been established for the protection and safety of the law-abiding majority."

Rules Negligence In Auto Fatality

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., May 9.—Coroner Ernest R. Sturgis today ruled that an automobile crash here in which J. N. Porter, 47, Kentwood, W. Va., brick manufacturer, was killed was "caused by negligence of C. A. Smith in failing to obey a stop sign."

Smith is president of the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company. The accident occurred April 23.

Coroner Sturgis said this afternoon that he planned to confer with Prosecuting Attorney George LaFerty concerning the advisability of presenting the case to the next grand jury for further investigation and possibilities of criminal action against Smith.

Industrial Executives Record Improved Conditions

erating figure this summer. Improvement was recorded at the plant of the Deming company during April.

Will Ship Giant Mill
The Bliss company is preparing to ship to a midwestern steel company plant, the world's largest cold rolling mill. On the basis of this job, it is possible that additional work of a similar nature may be forthcoming.

Some improvement is reported for April by the Mullins Manufacturing corporation, and the pickup urge has been felt by the National Sanitary company.

Executives of these varied plants, however, are not too optimistic and do not profess to see any elaborate gains in the near future but they feel confident that some progress is being made and, contingent upon conditions of a legislative nature as well as economic developments in general, progress probably will continue.

Steel Demand Continues

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, May 9.—Daily Metal Trade says "demand for steel, is developing in such volume that talk of a possible buying panic developing shortly is heard at important producing centers."

"Automobile demand is holding up at a remarkable rate, and there are no signs of this business diminishing in the next few weeks."

Steel operations, the magazine explained, are now at 33 per cent of capacity, with indications they will rise to above 35 per cent by mid-week.

Quartet Sings At Columbiana Event

A quartet from the Presbyterian Christian Endeavor society comprised of Rev. R. D. Walter, Clair King, Duane Dilworth and John Paul Olmstead, sang three songs at the rally held by the Columbiana county Christian Endeavor Union Monday evening at Columbiana.

Fourteen members of the Presbyterian society attended.

Announcement was made of a rally for young people on May 22 of all churches in Columbiana county at the Methodist Episcopal church, Columbiana.

This will be an inspirational and educational service, with its objective to interest young people in church work.

Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, president of Westminster college, New Wilmington, Pa., will give the address.

HOLDS BROTHER IS BLAMELESS

Kenneth Buck Exonerates Brother In Girl's Kidnaping

(By Associated Press)
BARNSTABLE, Mass., May 9.—Kenneth Buck, alleged kidnaper of Peggy McMath, today exonerated his brother Cyril, also under arrest for the crime, of any part in the abduction.

In a sworn statement made at the Barnstable county jail, where both men are held awaiting a hearing on May 22, Kenneth told Police Chief Edward E. Hall of Harwich that he alone was to blame and responsible for the crime. Hall said Kenneth declared that he could "implicate no other person."

The announcement of Kenneth's statement was made by Chief Hall after a conference which lasted more than two hours and a half. Present at the conference were Chief Hall, Kenneth and his brother, Lawrence, of Somerville, Sheriff Lauchlin Crocker and William Ellis, Ellis' connection with the case was not disclosed.

Salem Man Named In Damage Action

LISBON, May 9.—Three damage actions totaling $25,135 have been filed in common pleas court here against Steve Stulich, 431 Aetna street, Salem, as a result of an automobile accident on State Route 62 between Canfield and Youngstown on February 26.

Stulich drove his car off the road onto a loose slag berm. He lost control of the machine and it upset in a ditch. Three passengers

THE WELFARE OF THE WHOLE

President Roosevelt's brief address before the chamber of commerce of the United States contained nothing but sound business reasoning. In it was none of the political idealism which irritates the practical merchant and producer.

Three things were pointed out. Each of them revealed one method by which interests of the country can benefit themselves. But at the same time each of them was a request for vision more penetrating than has been common—more penetrating than President Roosevelt believes will prevail during the next few months without encouragement and insistence from official places.

The President suggests as the first point of enlightened selfishness that employers refrain from further wage cutting. Prices have started to increase; there is reasonable certainty that they will go higher. Since the objective of everything that is being done is to emerge from the bottom of the depression, maintenance of existing wage levels is simple logic.

In addition to maintaining wages, President Roosevelt requests management to do its part in minimizing the inevitable hardships which rising prices inflict on wage earners by making proportionate increases as they become necessary in the process of inflation. He cannot command that this be done. He only can suggest hoping that there may be cooperation.

The second recommendation has to do with internal reforms in branches of industry which have been disturbed by unsocial practices among individual employers. The government's policy will be to grant more liberal privileges of organization for this purpose. There should need to be no urging on this point, because it merely extends a right for which enlightened industrial leadership has been asking.

The third recommendation is general. As phrased by the President, it might well be given a place on the desk of every business executive. It reads: "It is ultimately of little avail to any of you to be temporarily prosperous while others are permanently depressed. I ask that you translate your welfare into the welfare of the whole, that you view recovery in terms of the nation rather than in terms of a particular industry, that you have the vision to lay aside special and selfish interests, to think of and act for a well rounded national recovery."

For so straightforward a statement management and labor jointly thank the man in whom national confidence for leadership has been placed.

THE PARTNERSHIP IDEAL

Behind the cheery promises implied in the partnership theory of governmental control over business, business men can see the thinly concealed threat of what inevitably will happen if the partnership doesn't prove agreeable. They will become former partners, gentlemen who lost out in competition.

It is to their credit, therefore, that they are showing so many signs of keeping ahead of the game. Perhaps in the past they have missed opportunities to show the state that its assistance, however deeply appreciated, entitled it to no privileges when matters of intimate policy were to be decided. They are on the alert now.

They have seized the government's probable proffer of relief from anti-trust laws which have become unduly onerous in deflation almost before there is reasonable certainty that the proffer will be made in a form acceptable to them. They have met the occasion with a program which, they promise, will put 3,000,000 men back to work.

Simultaneously with this, industry would take advantage of its freedom under the new partnership contract to regulate certain tendencies on its part which sometimes have prevented the partnership from being more agreeable and profitable in the past. It would eliminate from its ranks, with the assistance and encouragement of government, the entrepreneur who drives down wage levels and working standards to give himself a competitive advantage. It would establish and enforce minimum wage rules.

Government's function in the partnership would be permissive. Its profit would be the greater economic stability which business believes it could insure if permitted to organize. Actually, it would have less to do than it is doing now as a sort of probationary officer. But its influence very probably would be made greater because, instead of seeking constantly to contravert its rules, business would be more inclined toward cooperation.

HEALTH
By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

Teach Your Child Food Habits
I recently attended a meeting at which mothers discussed the various aspects of child welfare and the care of the infant. I was amazed to hear these women, who are so capable of discussing difficult problems of child rearing. When I was called upon to address the gathering there was almost nothing left to be said.

I believe too many mothers overlook the importance of having a regular daily routine for the baby. This is necessary for the welfare, both of baby and of the mother.

Feedings should be at a definite time. Training in elimination, the giving of cod liver oil, bathing, playing and daily naps, should be at definite times each day.

The Daily Schedule
Routine schedules are often broken because the fond parent gives in to the baby's crying. This is unfortunate because when the baby learns that crying will help, it will continue to cry until it gets its own way. A child should not be taken out of its crib merely because it cries.

Make sure that the infant is not wet, cold, or too warm. See that there is no misplaced pin or wrinkled bed clothing. If you are sure that there is no cause for the crying, ignore the child. It will soon learn that crying is useless and go to sleep.

In what I have said I do not mean to imply that persistent crying should be overlooked. Of course the thing to do is to find the cause and remove it. When an adult has pain he is able to give an accurate description of his pain and then it is easy to locate it. But in the baby the presence of pain can only be suspected and determined after careful observation.

When baby has pain it cries. It also cries when it is hungry, cold or soiled. The cry of pain is different from the other outbursts. Most mothers can easily distinguish it from the cry caused by hunger or temper.

Teach Child to Eat All Foods
Good health habits must be taught to children at an early age. The child should be taught to eat all foods and never to develop a dislike for any one food. The food should be varied and tempting to the eye and palate. Parents should avoid discussing foods they dislike in the presence of children.

Mealtime should be punctual and meals served without rush. The breakfast is the most important meal of the older child and sufficient time should be allotted for it. Never permit your child to go to school without his breakfast. A good breakfast means a good start for the day. It should consist of fruit, a hot or cold cereal, a glass of milk and buttered toast.

No one will deny that child health depends largely upon the care given by the mother. The modern mother has many advantages. She is in a better position successfully to rear her children than were her grandmothers.

NEW YORK, May 9.—Few who live by the pen remember numbers. And I've never known a scribbler to be anything but a dullard at arithmetic. Although my sister's address in Kansas City, Mo., has been the same for 15 years, and I have written her an average of three times a week, there's a constant confusion.

As long as I keep within a ten-block range, mail men find her, but about every six months she notifies my wife: "He's getting out of bounds again." George D. Buckley, to whom I pass along ribald yarns as they come to me, has reached a point of utter exasperation over my derelictions.

A cryptic note from his secretary this morning reads: "Mr. Buckley desires in the future you address all communications to him in care of the Obelisk in Central Park." This causticity was inspired by a screed from me to go to 154 E. 62nd being directed to 431 West 10th street.

Irvin Cobb is another figure falterer. Rupert Hughes keeps his home telephone number pasted in his hat. Will Irvin screeches in his vest pocket. It was proverbial Mark Twain had to carry a telephone book to the phone with an index finger pointing to the number desired.

Louis Seibold, deservedly great political correspondent, once received word from his mother his Great-Aunt Mary was at the old Waldorf and to call immediately. He spruced up and went around. At the reception desk he discovered he had forgotten her last name. He inquired tactfully if there might be a lady from Virginia who looked like a Great-Aunt Mary. In desperation he sent a telegram asking for the last name. He waited at the desk until he received this reply: Your Great-Aunt's last name is Fleming. Yours is Seibold. Your sorrowing Mother.

Speaking of aunts, there was a character our town knew as Aunt Puss. She was very dear. One evening Dr. Johnson, the village physician, was driving by her frame dwelling on the edge of the town. He saw a puff of smoke and shingles curling on the roof. "Your house is on fire!" he yelled. In flat monotone of the deaf she looked up from her porch rocker and smiled: "Won't you come in?" He screamed again the house was ablaze and sweetly she murmured: "O, yes. Is that all?" He scratched his head in perplexion and snorted: "That's all I can think of." And giddapped furiously to his horse.

There was also a garrulous maid-lady in our town vilayet named Miss Mattie Boone. One of her proud boasts was she descended from Daniel Boone. The acid-tongued Dr. Johnson, hearing of it, observed: "She descended from a Boone all right. But Bab, not Dan."

Charlie Judels, character actor, was called to a radio office recently to bolster a program of one of the stars. After an audition he was told he fitted in perfectly and to appear next morning. He judiciously inquired what he was to be paid. He was told $25 and shook his head. The ante was lifted to $50. Said Judels: "I live in Nutley, N. J. I'd like to send my car for you to have dinner with me tonight and I'll pay you $50 to entertain me while we dine."

They were discussing one of the dullest newspapers on the Atlantic seaboard. "It is true to tradition," observed Lucius Beebe, "tomorrow it will be printing the second-day stories of the Titanic survivors."

Next to discussions of newspapers nothing interests me more than the topic of food. Bruce Barton flowered into a panegyric for Virginia ham, redolent of hickory smoke, and Gloyd Gibbons waxed verbose over the acid tang of marinade here. When Bob Reud dwelt on the imperial succulence of fried chicken I could stand it no longer and began to brood. And taking off for dinner at home I was gripped by the prickling qualm that I'd find the kitchen stove broken down or something.

ROOSEVELT
MUSSOLINI
LINDBERGH
—By Arthur Brisbane—
(Copyright, 1933 By King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

MIAMI—The millions that heard the President's voice talking to the country Sunday night will congratulate him on the possession of a "perfect radio voice," every word distinct, every idea clear, a voice carrying conviction. The radio putting the President in direct touch with those that directed him is a President's greatest asset and defense.

MUSSOLINI, accused of drifting toward "socialism" because he planned control and possible ownership of great industries, says it is not socialism but business can get too big for individual ownership.

The cobbler making two or three pairs of shoes in a week is a craftsman entitled to own his business. The head of a great shoe, steel or other manufacturing company, employing tens of thousands of men, dealing in hundreds of millions of dollars, may be engaged in a business too big for any individual or corporation ownership or control. Mussolini asks, concerning such a concern:

"How is it possible to think that its fortunes or misfortunes are the personal affair of the manager of that house, or of the shareholders of that industry?"

"No, it now interests the whole of the nation, and the political, judicial and moral expression of the nation cannot be a stranger to it."

YOU MAY find this country, which has recently thrown over many old-fashioned ideas, drifting in the direction of government control of "things that grow too big." The late William J. Bryan wanted to forbid any industrial corporation to do more than one-quarter of all the business in its field. Nothing came of that.

IT IS BETTER to sit down than to go through them," says Colonel Lindbergh of sand storms in the southwest that sometimes blast the paint from automobiles, and reach up high enough to attack airplanes. Flying over the Texas Panhandle, Colonel Lindbergh was forced down by such a storm last Saturday. Instead of "bucking it," as a less experienced flyer might have done, he "sat down" until the storm passed. Then he took off from his landing place, flew into Kansas City and on east.

What has been called "Lindbergh's marvelous luck" is Colonel Lindbergh's flying "common sense" added to a great skill.

"As One Texan to Another"

Vice President John Nance Garner (left), extends the right hand of welcome to Representative Milton H. West on the latter's arrival at the capital to sit in the House of Congress. Representative West now occupies Vice President Garner's former seat in Congress, coming from "Genial John's" district in Texas.

Mr. Kettering, chief engineer of General Motors, who has flown many hours "blind," has said:

"If men would fly only when the birds fly there would be fewer accidents. Birds do not fly at night, in rain, fog or sand storms."

BEER ARRIVED in Miami with the temperature at 85, and was welcome. The Miami Herald carried 14 large display advertisements of brewers and beer sellers. The price started at 50 cents a small bottle, a near-bootleg price, but that will pass.

What temperance requires is that workmen should be able to get as they used to do, a glass of beer properly made for 5 cents.

TWENTY THOUSAND citizens visited the seven American submarines in Miami harbor Sunday. Those deadly fighting machines that strike unseen backed by airplanes that fight above the clouds, are the best possible protection for 13,000,000 in the United States.

When you realize that one inexpensive submarine can destroy, with safety to itself, a $50,000,000 battleship, and that fewer than 50 men can operate a submarine, against thousands on a battleship, you realize the part that submarines will play in the next war.

You realize also the part that the airplane will play, manned by two men, costing a tenth of 1 per cent as much as a battleship, and as deadly to that ship as an eagle to a rabbit.

Bargains are plentiful. The ads. will tell you where.

THE CHALLENGE OF LOVE

by WARWICK DEEPING

CHAPTER THIRTY-TWO

"I cannot see anyone this morning. I am busy. Who is it?" remarked Rev. Flemming testily.

"Mr. Wolfe, sir."

"Wolfe?"

"Yes, Dr. Threadgold's assistant."

Flemming went to his desk, hesitated and closed his sermon book. "Show him in," he said.

The contrast between these two men was vividly marked that August morning, perhaps because the characteristics that differentiated them had swung to the uttermost extremes. Flemming, ponderous, stately, slow as to eyes and mouth, moved like a man whose heart was covered with fat, and who would be short of breath after climbing a hill. The lines of his face looked loose and flabby beside the keen, purposefulness of Wolfe's profile. His big hand felt like a bundle of warm wool.

"Sit down, Mr. Wolfe. What can I do for you?"

Wolfe sat down with his back to the light.

"The matter is partly personal."

"Oh!"

"Dr. Threadgold and I have parted company, sir. In fact, we have quarreled."

"I am sorry to hear that."

Robert Fleming did not appear surprised by the news. His eyes suggested that he was wondering how such a quarrel could concern him. Wolfe understood the look and answered it.

"It is possible that I shall have to leave Navestock. But before I go I have a kind of legacy to leave behind me."

"Oh! You have come to me about it?"

"Shall I explain?"

Wolfe leaned forward with his elbows on his knees. He spoke slowly, watching Robert Flemming's face.

"I won't waste words, sir. I had not been a month in Navestock before I was compelled to realize the inhuman condition of the town. One is driven to hunt for causes. I had been taught this, and I began to make every investigation that I could. It was not long before I ran up against prejudice and opposition. Perhaps you will understand that, knowing Navestock as you do."

Flemming remained impassive, sitting well back in his chair.

"Well, Mr. Wolfe, go on."

"I grant that my enthusiasm may have seemed rather meddlesome and strenuous. Matters became unpleasant."

"So I have heard."

"I placed the results of my investigations in Dr. Threadgold's hands."

"You mean you considered him responsible?"

"It challenged it, sir."

"And what did he think of these records of yours?"

"He burned them, Mr. Flemming, burned them behind my back."

Flemming was not easily disturbed, but he sat up sharply, frowning, puzzled.

"You mean to say that Dr. Threadgold burned your papers?"

"That is a fact. At least, I have his word for it. I had had my dismissal. One thing I did not tell him. I have copies of all the papers that he burned. In burning them he destroyed my confidence, and my consideration."

Flemming's eyes met Wolfe's and were held by them in a long and questioning stare. It was as though the doctor looked through Wolfe's eyes into the soul within, and saw things there that disquieted him and filled him with something akin to dread.

"This is a very serious statement, Mr. Wolfe. Unless you are very sure of your conclusions—"

"They are facts, sir."

"Facts are elusive things."

"Are they, when you can smell them, see them, taste them, and touch them? I call these things facts."

Flemming got up, flicked back his coat-tails, and moved uneasily towards the mantelpiece. He picked up a pipe, opened his tobacco-jar and began to fill the pipe, dropping shreds of tobacco upon the hearthrug.

"What makes you so eager to set yourself up as a reformer?"

Wolfe's face hardened. The question suggested either some ulterior motive on his own part, or distinct moral dullness on the part of the man who asked it.

"I suppose it is a matter of conscience."

"Ah—perhaps so."

"I don't think that any further justification is needed."

He was watching Flemming, and saw a heavy flush go over his face. The doctor was nettled. Men who have preached at congregations for thirty years are apt to feel irritated when laymen presume to answer back.

"Let us take your conscience for granted. I suppose you have some object in coming here today?"

"I want these facts recognized. I may not be here to watch the result. But I mean to have them made public before I go."

"Well, Mr. Wolfe, well?"

"I believe, sir, you are the chairman of the Navestock Board of Guardians. It occurred to me that you might be willing to use your authority in getting the insanitary condition of the town recognized."

Flemming gave Wolfe a frank and rather surprised stare over the bowl of his meerschaum pipe. He leaned one elbow on the mantelpiece.

"My dear Mr. Wolfe, I make it a law never to meddle unasked in my parishioners' private affairs."

"But are these private affairs?"

"Certainly, in an indirect sense. It is not my business to go to my neighbors and suggest that they should clean out their stable-yards. Come, Mr. Wolfe have a little more reason, a little more savoir faire. Changes are not brought about in this hectoring spirit."

"I am sorry, sir, but I'm afraid they are."

"I disagree with you."

"Then we must decide to disagree."

Wolfe took his hat from the table, stood a moment in thought, and then held out a hand to Robert Flemming.

"You are an older and more experienced man than I am, sir. What I have said I have said in all sincerity. Provided that a man hits straight, I am ready to take his blows."

Flemming's hand came out with a certain hesitancy.

RALPH LONG, JR.

The Quaker business staff held a meeting yesterday. Paul Strader, Jr., business manager, presided.

Orchestra practice was held under the supervision of Walter F. Regal, director, yesterday.

The Quaker editorial staff held a meeting yesterday. Plans were laid and assignments made for the Quaker Annual.

In observance of National Music week, the high school music classes, under the direction of Miss Grace Orr, presented a musical program.

A girls' chorus numbering 100 voices initiated the program with two numbers entitled "Indian Dawn" by Ross and "To a Swan" by Saint-Saens.

Rachel Cope favored the assembly with two inspiring soprano solos, "Little Blue Bird of My Heart" by Grey and "Gypsy Love Song" by Herbert.

A boy's chorus of 29 concluded the program with a stirring number "The Cossacks" and a lighter number "Tell Me, Daisy" by Wellesley.

Junior High

The Music club held a meeting yesterday with Jane Woods presiding.

Martha Farmer and Helen Dinkelman had charge of the following program: Wilda Bricker—Piano Solo—"Moon Winkles" (Stevenson); Hazel Farmer—vocal solo—"I found you among the roses," accompanied by Miss Tetlow; Alice West—Piano Solo, Elhel French—Vocal Solo, "Memories;" "I found another Mary;" accompanied by Walter Regal.

Mr. Regal—Piano solo—"Keep the Campfires Burning;" "Glow Worm."

With 54 members present, the Book club held its meeting yesterday. The program consisted of: A Reading by Teddy Butler entitled "Jimmie Take Care of the Baby" and "Mark Tidd in Egypt."

At a meeting of the Nature club yesterday morning, plans were discussed for the reorganization of the club when school re-opens in September.

About 22 members of the hygiene classes, under the direction of Miss Smith, visited the city disposal plant Monday morning.

Mr. R. J. Vickers, city chemist, took the pupils for a tour of the plant and gave an interesting lecture on its operation. He also explained how the city water supply was tested and how weather records were taken at the plant. The representative members who made the trip will report to the other members in their classes on the information they received.

Scribblers' club met Monday, with 30 members present. In the "trees, birds and flowers" contest, Miss Klose was first and Jane Metzger, second.

A poetry game was played, in which each pupil wrote one line, leaving only the last word visible beneath the folded paper. The next pupil wrote a second line to rhyme with the first, and so on until four lines were completed. The verses were then read and the best ones selected.

It was planned to conduct a contest in the club. Each member is to contribute a poem or paragraph on the subject of preservation of the hedges on school lawns or on private property.

Senate Probe of Morgan Firm

Highspot of Pecora's Career

Legal David in Battle with Financial Goliaths Is an Alger Boy. An Immigrant at Five, He Fought Way to Top of Legal Profession Unaided.

When the Senate Banking and Currency Committee opens its investigation into the affairs of the mighty House of Morgan at Washington on May 23, those lucky enough to sit in on the proceedings will be privileged to witness a duel that might be likened to the story of David and Goliath. Ferdinand Pecora, counsel for the committee, an immigrant boy who made good, will enact the role of David, and his Goliath will be the Morgan firm, world's greatest private banking house. During the progress of the probe, Pecora will cross swords with such worthy foes as J. P. Morgan himself, Thomas W. Lamont, a Morgan partner, and the able John W. Davis, Democratic nominee for President in 1924, counsel for the Morgan interests. Pecora has had an enviable career since he came from Italy, where he was born 47 years ago, to New York. He attended New York's public schools, could not afford to remain at college, owing to his parents' extreme poverty, and won admission to the Bar by home study. In 1918, Pecora won a position on the staff of the District Attorney of New York County. Since then he has never looked back. His work in many important proceedings in that office won him an enviable reputation for sterling honesty, incorruptibility and absolute fearlessness. He is serving as counsel to the Senate committee without pay, and already has scored a notable triumph by forcing the Morgan firm to supply information, previously refused, relating to its capital structure.

H. CURTIS ELLIOTT, 11 LOCUST AVE., NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y.

CURTIS ELLIOTT had been looking at cars for months. He has to drive about 75 miles a day, so economy is important.

"Then along came Plymouth's radio announcement. A 4-door Six-Cylinder Sedan for $510 sounded good to me. Today I'm driving a Standard Plymouth."

Thanks, Mr. Elliott. We think there are a lot of people who are looking for this kind of a car.

The Standard has all the features that made Plymouth famous. It's a 70 horse-powered six on a 108-inch wheelbase. With Patented Floating Power engine mountings... hydraulic brakes...

...safety-steel bodies... Rigid-X, double-drop frame.

And what a thrill these new Standard Plymouth Six prices are. People used to think that Plymouth was higher than the very lowest-priced cars.

Today... Plymouth prices are as low as the lowest. And the 4-door sedan is today's lowest-priced 6-cylinder 4-door Sedan! Go see the new Plymouth today.

IN DETROIT people get the latest facts about cars... even before they happen.

So when Mr. Major heard that Plymouth was going to bring out a new long wheelbase car... it sounded like just what he wanted.

"I'd been driving one of the other low-priced cars," said Mr. Major. "But I decided to look at the new De Luxe."

"When Mrs. Major saw that car... it was all over. It's bigger and smarter-looking than others... and that's why we bought it."

That's a real compliment... coming from a Detroit automobile buyer. The De Luxe is longer... 112-inch wheelbase. It's the world's biggest low-priced six... in inches and in value. With Free Wheeling... all-silent transmission... automatic clutch at slight extra cost.

You'll like the new smart radiator. You'll like the beautifully styled interior... its deep wide seats and handsome paneling.

MOTHERS-DAUGHTERS BANQUET

Numbered among the interesting social functions of the week being held to observe Mother's day, which comes on next Sunday, was the Mothers and Daughters banquet given by Mary Ellet, tent No. 79, Daughters of Union Veterans Monday evening at the G. A. R. hall, East State st.

The table arranged for 54 guests presented a beautiful appearance, decorated in violets and narcissus.

Mrs. Olive Platt, Miss Elaine Furlong, Herbert McArthur and Frederick Lodge, who comprise the String Four, music unit, entertained with several selections. Other numbers on the enjoyable program were: Vocal solos, Harold Babb; trombone solo, Dan Holloway; vocal duet, Miss Furlong and Mr. McArthur; violin solo, Christina Robinson; poem, "Mother's Day," Mrs. Olive Baxter.

Mary Frances Juergens and Charlotte King contributed a novelty dance.

Mrs. Harold Babb was the accompanist for the program.

The tent will give a card party in connection with its meeting in two weeks. The party is open to the public.

MUSIC STUDY CLUB

Meeting Monday afternoon members of the Music Study club were guests of Mrs. Edgar Miller at her home in Columbiana.

The program consisted of a review of the chapter in the study book on "Pre-Symphony Forms," by Mrs. J. J. Swinbank.

Mrs. Bess Hendricks presented a sketch giving arguments for and against modern music. She also played two waltzes by Brahms.

Mrs. Forest Coy sang two Negro spirituals, arranged by Burleigh, "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen," and "My Way's Cloudy," accompanied by Mrs. Charles Cornwell.

Mrs. A. B. Hobson sang "Serenade" (Cyril Scott) accompanied by Mrs. Paul Covert.

Mrs. P. H. Beaver played two numbers by Stravinsky, "Barcarole" and "First of Four Etudes."

There was one visitor present. The club will hold its final meeting of the season May 22, at the home of Mrs. P. H. Beaver, Leetonia.

JOSEPH MORRIS HOST

Joseph Morris was host to piano pupils of L. C. Kessler recently at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Morris, Ridgewood drive.

A musical program was presented, including several violin selections by Ralph Taylor, Jr., accompanied by Joseph Morris at the piano.

Luncheon was served by Mrs. Morris. Guests included Robert Eckenrood, Richard Zimmerman, Eloise Dunn, Iona Bond, Dan Davis, Betty Tolp, Margaret Fallow, Billy Segelman, Ernest Judd, Robert Kessler, Donald Korn, Ruth Davis, Paul Zimmerman, Robert Beck, John Dan, Ralph Taylor, Jr., Liberty Bond and Gladys Whitacre.

90TH ANNIVERSARY

Mrs. Elsie Egger Waffler of Alliance, who celebrated her 90th birthday anniversary Saturday at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. B. E. Poto, in that city, is the grandmother of Mrs. R. H. McConner of Salem.

There was a three-day celebration of Mrs. Waffler's anniversary. Mrs. McConner and a group of friends honored her with a surprise visit last Friday. Sunday she was complimented with a family dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Waffler, near Freeburg.

ALUMNI BANQUET

The Alumni association of Greenford High school will hold its annual banquet Wednesday evening in the High school auditorium.

Following the dinner a program will be given. Several Salem people are graduates of the Greenford High school.

The Elizabeth Fry class of the First Friends church will have a coverdish supper at 6:30 p. m. Friday at the church, at which the members will entertain their mothers and guests.

UNITY BIBLE CLASS

The Unity Bible class of the Methodist Episcopal church will meet this evening at the church with a coverdish supper at 6:30.

All members are urged to be present.

LEGION AUXILIARY

The American Legion auxiliary will meet this evening at the Legion home.

There will be initiation and discussion of important business. Lunch will be served.

CHOIR ASSOCIATION

Members of the Choir association of the English Lutheran church will meet at 8 this evening at the home of the pastor, Rev. G. D. Keister, 272 South Union ave.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Ealy and son, Junior, and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Koehler of Akron, were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hillard, south of the city. Mrs. Koehler before her marriage was Miss Ida Mae Hillard.

Mrs. Henry A. Conner of Cleveland st. and Mrs. Harry Beane of Pittsburgh, are motoring to Chattanooga, Tenn., where they will spend several weeks with relatives.

Miss Mary Waterworth, East Fourth st. and Mrs. Julia Finley have returned from Coral Gables, Fla., where they spent the winter.

Mrs. Sina Atterholt, of Lisbon who underwent an operation at the Central Clinic hospital here, is reported to be improving.

Henry Ashridge and family of East Palestine spent Sunday in Salem with relatives.

Dressing the Commuter

By MARIE MAROT

THE SARTORIAL WAY of the commuter isn't easy. Clothes donned in the morning must last throughout the day regardless of weather changes and often there is the necessity of staying over in the city to dine. With this problem in mind we have assembled some smart clothes that should help to a successful solution.

The outfit sketched at the right is of heavy ribbed, sheer silk in that lovely dark string color, that is neither light nor dark. The enormous tie is of brown and white dotted chiffon. Harmonious details make this outfit ideal for office or for dinner in town. At the left is an ideal ensemble for the shopping suburbanite. It is smart, yet inconspicuous. The jacket boasts silver fox, banding the sleeves together. The self-scarf is attached to the coat. The dress is of the same heavy sheer as the coat, except for the bodice top which is of natural colored Alencon lace, extending to the waistline in back, and giving a dressy look when worn for dining.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By Jeanette Young Norton

Fruits For Spring Tonics

It's time for a spring tonic. Do you prefer yours in the form of delicious fruits or in a tall bottle from the medicine cabinet? For years, at this season, people have turned to phosphates to afford them the alkali properties which the system needs. Since these same phosphates are contained in fruits, it is only natural then, that dietitians now tell us to eat more fruit in the spring.

Phosphates Are Necessary

It is largely to the presence of phosphates, Dr. Henry C. Sherman states in his "Chemistry of Food Nutrition" that the blood plasma and protoplasm owe their ability to remain neutral or faintly alkaline, notwithstanding the constant production of acid in metabolism. With the neutralizing of a string acid, such as the sulphuric acid from protein metabolism, an increased output of the base-forming elements is apt to result, and if this increased output is not made good by the intake, it tends to diminish the "alkali reserve" of the body.

Thus the benefit to health which so generally results from a free use of milk, vegetables and fruit may be attributable, in part, to the fact that these foods yield alkaline residues when oxidized in the body.

These Contain Phosphorus

Do you know some of the fruits which contain a fair amount of phosphorus, and are therefore good spring foods? Here is the list: apples, apricots, cherries, grapefruit, grapes, oranges, peaches, pears, pineapples, plums, tomatoes. All of these fruits are available in cans, and should be used liberally, at this season, in cocktails, salads, with meats, in sauces and desserts.

A $1.50 Dinner for Six

This is a time of financial uncertainty when a really good dinner that costs no more than 25 cents per person is a good thing to know about and serve. So as a contribution toward solving your temporary economic problems, we are suggesting the following dinner which fills both these requirements at prices prevailing in most places today:

Creamed Chicken on Biscuits 75c
Corn Fritters with Syrup 24c
Cabbage and Tomato Salad 17c
Black Cherry Jelly with Cream 27c
Demi-tasse 5c

And here are the recipes for the fritters and dessert which do so much to make this a really good dinner.

Corn Fritters: Beat one egg well, and add to the contents of an 8-ounce can of corn. Mix together one-half cup flour, one teaspoon baking powder and one-fourth teaspoon salt, and add to the corn. Drop by spoonfuls into hot, deep fat (375 degrees F.) and fry until brown. Makes 15 to 18 fritters. Serve with syrup.

Black Cherry Jelly with Cream: Dissolve one package cherry gelatin in two cups boiling water, and cool. Add the syrup from an 8-ounce can of pitted black cherries. When the mixture starts to set, add the sliced cherries, and pour into a large mold (or six small ones). Chill. Serve with one cup of light cream.

London to Consider His Plea for Amnesty for Political Prisoners

ribble suspense during his fast, he thought it would be better to suspend the campaign.

Asks Opening For Peace
He declared if the government would suspend its ordinances and release political prisoners unconditionally, an opening would be made for peace.

There was no present indication that the government would grant the Mahatma's appeal.

SIMLA, India, May 9.—The virtual suspension of the civil disobedience campaign by Mahatma Gandhi came as a pleasant surprise to government quarters here.

The Mahatma's statement produced a considerable change in the atmosphere, and the viceroy's executive council will shortly consider the situation, together with Mr. Gandhi's suggestion for a general amnesty for political prisoners.

Any decision on the question of amnesty, however, must take some time, as local governments must be consulted, and then the authorities in London must be asked for approval.

While the Mahatma's statement was welcome, the official opinion was expressed that it would need to be backed up by action by the Indian congress before the question of release of political prisoners would definitely arise.

Confer On Rates

COLUMBUS, O., May 9.—Attorneys of the Warren Telephone company were summoned here today by U. W. Gearhart, special master in United States district court, for a conference of the company's appeal from rates set by the state utilities commission.

PARIS.—The issuance of an international identity card for students belonging to the International Institute of Intellectual Cooperation was discussed at the annual world student body meeting held recently in Paris.

Representatives of seven international student organizations, to which are affiliated the national students' unions or groups of practically every country of the world, and which since 1926 have sat as a committee under the auspices of the League of Nations. This was their eighth annual session. Plans were also discussed for the protection of the cooperative interests of students and, internationally, for the propagation of the principles of moral disarmament.

Gandhi Disciple

Nila Cram Cook, daughter of the noted American author, George Cram Cook, who has embraced the cause and faith of Mahatma Gandhi and joined his model colony "Ashram," Miss Cook recently visited the Indian leader in Joroda Jail, where she made a "clean confession" of her past life in accordance with the custom of Gandhi followers.

Given Pen Term

CLEVELAND, O., May 9.—Upon his plea of guilty, Ross B. Palmer, former cashier of the First National bank of Hudson, Ohio, was sentenced to five and a half years in federal prison for illegally abstracting funds.

TEXARKANA, Ark.—When Sylvester Gilmore tickled Lula Lane in the ribs she slashed him with a knife. But because the negroes "were just playing," they were fined only $1 each in Municipal Court.

Orders Quarantine

BATAVIA, O., May 9.—On the basis of reports that 39 persons had been bitten by dogs with rabies, Dr. C. H. Coovers, county health officer, declared a two week quarantine in southern Clermont county.

Dogs must be confined and no livestock may be shipped during the period.

300 Go On Strike

WILLIAMSBURG, O., May 9.—Workers at the P. Sullivan Shoe company went on strike, declaring they had been informed of a proposed 20 to 30 per cent wage cut. They said 300 of the plant's 350 workers quit.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah.—The reformation of Stanley Beuter, 23, lasted 19 days, police charged. He was paroled from prison after serving a sentence for auto theft, only to be arrested on robbery charges 19 days later.

N. E. O. Big Ten Schools Vote Against Reduction Of Age Limit

Springer Is Reelected To Head League; Plan Drive to Aid Baseball

A state-wide move for the reduction of the scholastic eligibility age limit in athletics met with disfavor among Northeastern Ohio Big Ten league school officials who, at a meeting in Alliance Monday night, voted unanimously in favor of the retention of the present 20-year rule.

Changes advocated by certain scholastic officials of Ohio proposed that state eligibility rules be altered to permit participation of only players not more than 19 years of age. The matter is scheduled to come to a vote among all Class A and B schools of the state next fall.

Springer Reelected

The vote on the age eligibility followed the regular business session and banquet of Big Ten members with Wilbur J. Springer, Salem High principal, president of the organization, as chairman.

Springer was reelected to head the league for a second year while Ralph Coppock, Alliance High faculty manager, was chosen as vice-president. H. H. Whitman, Barberton, was reelected secretary-treasurer.

Springer is the second Salem man to be honored with an executive position in the Big Ten circuit. Harold M. Williams, former faculty manager here and now junior high principal, occupied the post of vice-president two terms.

Will Recognize Baseball

League officials, together with going on record as opposing any reduction in age limits, voted to recognize baseball as an organized scholastic sport in which a championship title and an appropriate trophy is to be awarded annually. The trophy cup will be awarded the league by Billie Evans, general manager of the Cleveland Indians. A plea in behalf of baseball was made by C. H. Butler of Alliance. A general discussion followed in which coaches generally concurred in the idea that baseball should be given an important place in the school's extra-curricular calendar, where possible, and that, after this year, efforts will be made for the organization of teams.

Three schools, Dover, New Philadelphia and Wooster, already sponsor hardball teams while only two schools, Salem and Alliance, are represented in track and field.

Curtail Spring Programs

Spring athletic programs in all schools have been curtailed because of the lack of funds but several expressed opinions that they favored baseball in preference to track and will make plans to revive interest in the diamond sport in future years.

Of interest to baseball's backers was the report made by Coach Hal Smith of Massillon, who refuted the general opinion that softball is gradually erasing hardball from the sports calendar, stating that the latter is gaining in popularity throughout Stark county. Smith said that two years ago Massillon didn't have a single hardball team; in 1932 there were four and this season, he said, there are 11.

Softball teams have decreased, Smith added.

Agree Sports Conflict

There was also a general agreement that there is a serious conflict between baseball and track coaches commenting that, in such cities as Salem where the latter is a tradition, it may prove impossible to organize a diamond nine.

Coach Smith of Niles brought up the discussion of the proposed age limit as stipulated in the May edition of The Ohio High School Athletic Association Bulletin, off the press Monday.

Here are facts concerning the proposed reduction in high school athletic eligibility age from 20 to 19 years as announced in the May Bulletin of the Ohio High School Athletic association:

Arguments for Reduction

1.—Boys 19 and 20 are beyond the high school age; because of his advanced physical development the older boy often becomes the star of the team and much adulation goes to him in the form of hero worship. He may have been a "flunker" or may have been picked off the sandlot but to the school and its supporters he is their representation of what's what. The vast majority of normal-progress pupils might well be termed the "forgotten man."

2.—Many principals contend the majority of problems dealing with athletic eligibility would be done away with if the age limit were lower. We have also the dangers that the training and playing pace of a squad is set to what older boys can accomplish, not according to what the average youngster can endure.

3.—Lack of team spirit has brought many older boys back to school. Increased attendance next term will mean that more old boys are playing in athletics; eligibility problems will be increased greatly.

4.—The age limit was reduced from 21 to 20 years not long ago. It did much to improve athletics and there was no noticeable hardship wrought against boys eliminated from any further competition.

Opposing Reduction

Arguments against the proposal (and they are greater in number and more sound than those in favor of it) follow:

1.—The discrimination against the older boy is unfair; athletics keep many older boys in school where they are better off than loafing around in undesirable places. Good coaching, team play and school discipline benefits them just as they do the younger class.

2.—Athletics are in danger of being over-regulated. We have enough rules now.

3.—A boy may attend high school free of charge until he is 21. It is not right to deprive him of the right to participate in activities of the school; the idea is neither democratic or fair.

4.—Children of Negro and foreign-born parentage often advance through school slower than American youngsters. This proposal would force many boys of the former class to seek their sport on the sandlots from whence colleges do not recruit prospective pupils. The college chances of many good boys would thus be impaired.

5.—Some communities have an extremely difficult time now in enforcing the 20-year rule. Then too, schools near state borders, would face unfair competition against 21 and 20-year old athletes from Indiana and Kentucky. Where Ohio is already over-regulated, too many schools in other states are practically, it might be said, without strict enforcement of rules.

Decreased Number Of Entries Booked For National Open

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 9.—The selection of Chicago as the venue of the 1933 national open golf championship was reflected today in a big decrease in entries and a corresponding increase in competitors from the west, especially the Chicago district.

913 Players Entered

A total of 913 golfers have entered this year as against 1,012 in 1932, and a study of sectional lists for the nation-wide qualifying round next Monday shows that the east can be charged entirely with the loss. New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Washington show an aggregate decrease of 164 entries for their qualifying lists.

Off setting this partially were bigger fields in the west with Chicago's 204 entrants topping all the rest and showing an increase of 70 over last year.

Of the 913 officially in the lists, 33 are exempted from the 36-hole qualifying round by virtue of their showing in the 1932 open. And will come directly to the championship proper at the North Shore golf club, Glenview, Ill., June 8, 9, 10. The remaining 880 will fight it out on 21 sectional courses next Monday for the 117 places that remain to be filled.

The Entries

The players entered for the qualifying trials at the Miami Valley golf club at Dayton, May 15, include:

PIRATES BLANK BRAVES; CARDS DEFEAT GIANTS

Western Clubs Looming Stronger in Season's East-West Series

The evidence is just about conclusive now that once more the western clubs pack most of the power in the National league.

In the first 24 games of the campaign's initial east-west series, the invaders from beyond the Alleghenies have gained a 2-1 edge—16 victories against eight defeats—and this in the east's own strongholds.

Pirates Blank Braves

The west checked in with two more triumphs yesterday as the Pirates blanked the Braves behind Larry French's great pitching and the Cardinals took the home run route in overcoming the Giants. The Pirates and Cards together have accounted for nine victories in 11 starts in the east.

French held the Braves to three singles while the Pirates walloped Tom Zachary for nine hits, five of them doubles, to win 3-0.

The Cardinals made only three hits off Fred Fitzsimmons but they beat the Giants, 4-3, on home runs by Joe Medwick and Frankie Frisch.

Brennan Beats Chisox

Rain and cold weather forced postponement of the other two games in the National league and only two were played in the American.

In one, Don Brennan pitched the Yankees to a 7-3 triumph over the Chicago White Sox.

The Washington Senators staggered through to a 10-5 victory over the Browns at St. Louis when Bob Boken, substitute second baseman, clouted a homer with one on in the twelfth.

MEADE, FISHER ARE SUSPENDED

Riders of Broker's Tip, Head Play, Set Down For 30 Days

(By Associated Press)

BALTIMORE, May 9.—The suspension of Don Meade, for action during his ride of E. R. Bradley's Broker's Tip to victory in the Kentucky derby caused considerable speculation around the Pimlico track as to the jockey who will be up on the colt in the Preakness Saturday.

Meade and Herb Fischer, rider of Head Play, were set down at Churchill Downs yesterday each for thirty days for being "guilty of grasping the equipment of the other" during the derby and Fischer an additional five days for striking Meade after the race.

Meade's suspension, while it does not apply to stake race engagements in Kentucky, bars the jockey from all Maryland tracks during the period, according to Maryland jockey club secretary.

Jimmy Smith, veteran Bradley rider, who rode Broker's Tip in all his four races last year, was mentioned as the most probable to take Meade's place.

O'NEIL REVAMPS TOLEDO LINEUP

Elaborate Maneuvering By Mudhen Manager Brings Results

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, May 9.—Toledo's Mud Hens may not finish very high in the American association championship race, but the athletes probably will get plenty of education before the season ends.

Injuries and experiments have made it necessary for Manager Steve O'Neill to shift his players from position to position, and probably not a club in the league has such a collection of all-around performers. Last week the Hens ran out of catchers so O'Neill sent George Detore, an infielder, behind the bat where he did a bangup job.

Yesterday Pilot O'Neill went even farther. He did most of the catching himself, but sent in a pinch batsman in the ninth. Detore was moved from third base to catch. Hal Trosky joined up as a pinch hitter for Pete Sturgeon in the same inning which produced one run and a tie with Kansas City. Trosky remained as first baseman and Bill Sweeney moved over to play second base.

The elaborate maneuvering had the desired results for Toledo finally won, 4 to 3 in ten innings.

Rain caused postponement of the rest of the day's schedule.

THE DAY IN SPORTS

ASK REDUCED AGE LIMIT

THE DAYS mail today brings the quarterly Bulletin of the Ohio High School Athletic association, revealing many interesting statistics of Buckeye state basketball tournaments, attendance, gate receipts, etc., and brings forth new ideas concerning interscholastic eligibility.

Among the interesting items is an article, written by J. E. Bohn, principal of Ashland High school, Ashland, entitled "The Possible Reduction in Ohio of the Age Limit for Participation in High School Athletics." The article deals with the proposed reduction of the age limit of athletes from 20 to 19 or 18 years and discusses the matter both for and against.

This matter will in all probability, the Bulletin says, be voted on next year, by Ohio high schools.

Another item of note is that which reveals that schools unable to start football at the regular time next fall will be permitted to start practices on September 1 but not before. Games scheduled before the term begins may be played. Only those athletes eligible at the close of schools in May or June are permitted to compete.

ANY COACH will tell you that timing is the prime requisite of every sport.

The game of this essential was reached the other day by Jack Keller, Ohio State's famous hurdler. That day Keller ran a 120-yard hurdle race into the teeth of a high wind that blew clouds of dust and cinders into the faces of the contestants, making clear vision impossible.

The fleet Ohio greyhound took one look down the course as the gun sent the runners away. Then he closed his eyes and kept them closed until he breasted the tape. He finished far ahead of the field and his time was under 15 seconds.

An example of the old adage that "practice makes perfect."

After six years of tossing about in the Buckeye Athletic association and getting nowhere, Denison university finally withdrew from the organization.

Saturday Denison will celebrate its re-entry into the Ohio conference with a dual track meet with Otterbein. It will be the first time these schools have competed since 1929.

The United Cigars and Schafer Billiards, neither victorious in league games as yet, clash at 6:30. The church league gets under way at the new field west of Reilly stadium. The Christians play Emmanuel Lutherans at 5:30 and at 6:30 the Baptists tangle with the Methodists.

BOISE, Idaho—A soft shelled chicken egg, about the size of a turkey egg was found by E. E. Thompson on his chicken ranch near here. The egg was composed of three separate parts. The outer shell covered all egg-white, while two other small eggs, encased with hard shells, were found to be normal.

Here and There About Town

Holds Fraternity Post

Robert P. VanBlaricom of Salem, is house manager for the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity at Ohio State university. VanBlaricom is a senior in industrial management and has won honors in varsity football and wrestling.

Another Salem student, C. Raymond Reich, 762 East Fourth st. was a member of the executive committee which arranged a recent banquet for fraternity pledges at Ohio State. He is a freshman in the school of business administration.

Band Concert Tonight

A concert at 8 tonight at the Salem High school auditorium will be given by Quaker City band, the Salem Music Study club and the Transylvania Sackin Male choir, as a part of the observance of the 10th annual National Music week here. The celebration here is sponsored by the Music Study club.

Ralph Sturgeon, director of the band, will direct the concert program.

Delegate to State Meet

Frank Fink, grand knight of Salem council No. 1818, Knights of Columbus, will represent this council at the state meeting which convenes at Columbus next Sunday night and Monday.

Fink will be accompanied by Mr. Crawford, grand knight of the Leontoria council.

Knights of Maccabees

When Quaker City tent No. 144, Knights of Maccabees, met Monday evening at the hall, East State st., the members set Sunday, June 11, as Memorial day.

On that day a committee from the tent will decorate the graves of departed members.

ished, crashing through the roof into the cafeteria. Children in the classrooms were panic stricken, but were prevented from dashing from the rooms by their teachers and the principal, H. L. Boda. Later the children were marched safely from the school. No one was injured.

10 Hurt in Dayton

A check of Dayton hospitals showed that 10 persons were injured during the storm, none critically. Clarence Frey, 43, may lose the sight of both eyes, as a result of having been struck by flying glass when the storm struck his home.

Lightning which struck a gasoline filling station during the storm caused a fire which destroyed the buildings. Four 20,000 gallon gasoline tanks, all empty, at the bulk station of the Cladwell and Taylor company were blown from their moorings and carried for a considerable distance by the wind.

"Hail Queen Shenandoah XI"

No, this is not a military wedding, although it has all the earmarks. The flashing swords of the historic Richmond Blues form an arch of honor for Her Majesty Queen Shenandoah X as she is escorted to the throne by Secretary of War George Dern. The Queen of the celebrated apple blossom festival at Winchester, Va., in private life is Mlle. Francoise May, daughter of the Belgian Ambassador to the United States.

Linked to Girl's Death

Arrested in Philadelphia on a charge of masquerading as a priest, James Gavan, 23-year-old Canadian, is pictured under guard as he was taken to be confronted with Edward J. Majerbon, Long Island Railroad baggage man (inset), who identified him as the man with whom he saw Mary Ellen O'Connor, Rockaway Park school girl, last February. The girl's murdered body was later found in the woods near Massapequa, L. I. Following Majerbon's identification, Gavan was booked on suspicion of murder.

"Hello Sister" Coming; "King Kong" Closes Run at State Theatre Today

THAT wise-cracking, smiling Irish lad—Jimmy Dunn—and his leading lady, in "Handle With Care," Boots Mallory along with Zasu Pitts and Minna Gombell, pose the popular cast that will play in "Hello, Sister" coming to the State theatre Wednesday.... It will run two days....

Jimmy plays a savings-bank salesman.... He and Terrace Ray as "Mac," a typical Broadway wise-guy, meet Peggy (Miss Mallory) and her girl-friend Millie (Miss Pitts)....

Conflict Enters Romance

Conflict enters the setting when Jimmy and Peggy avow their preference and find themselves in love.... Mac, attempting to ruin his friend's romance tells him a rather mixed-up story and just as Jimmy is deciding whether to believe him or not, poor, unassuming Millie collaborates it, little dreaming of the trouble she is helping to make....

Of course the story is straightened out to the satisfaction of all.... The plot itself is perhaps a bit thin but the characters and clever dialogue will make it worth while and entertaining....

STRANGELY wonderful and fascinating is "King Kong" super-production playing this evening at the State theatre for the last times....

Photography Perfect

Tremendous technical resources were employed in producing this only dumb brute's strength against an army of bombing planes pelting him with machine gun bullets....

Players Well Cast

Fay Wray, Robert Armstrong and Bruce Cabot capably play leading roles but it is "Kong" that takes one's attention....

Imaginary it may be, but it is highly interesting and its magnificent direction and photography make it not only one of the strangest films ever produced but one of the most skillfully filmed....

First Circus Booked Friday

Here is Miss Gene Woodward riding Junie, the Indian elephant, as one of the feature acts of the Barnett Bros. circus, which will appear in Salem for two performances Friday.

Miss Woodward is well known as a singer in concert and radio circles. With the closing of schools at 2:30 students of the city will have an opportunity of witnessing a special matinee which will be held at 3 p. m. The show will pitch its tents on grounds at Fifth and Howard.

Fifty under-privileged children of the city will be special guests of the circus at this matinee. A blanket order for the tickets for the youngsters has been issued to Safety Director John R. Kerr by Harold Lengs, advance agent.

Several novelty acts of special interest to children will be presented at the afternoon show. Among these will be the performance of Junie, an elephant; Prince, a dog and Snookie, a small Shetland pony. These three are inseparable companions on the show lot and their act is one of the most unique in circus history.

The many clowns carried by the show will strive to make the special children's matinee one to be long remembered by the youngsters.

Two performances will be given in Salem. The afternoon show will start at 3 p. m. with the night show getting under way at 8. Doors will be open an hour previous to showing time.

TWO KIDNAPERS ARE CAPTURED

Abduction Plot Plans Are Known To Police Beforehand

With the Trevillian kidnapping successfully consummated the sheriff said the gang then planned to seize W. T. Rawleigh, head of the company and a relative of Trevillian by marriage.

The stake for his return was to be boosted to $100,000 and because of his state of health it was planned to entice a nurse into the plot and to use an ambulance if necessary.

After his release Trevillian told Sheriff Weller and Dan Andersen, member of the United States attorney's office in Chicago, that the two men under arrest seized him as he was getting into his automobile and with drawn pistols forced him to get into their car. They drove at once to the abandoned farm house, under surveillance of authorities.

At her home Mrs. Trevillian denied receiving the ransom demand an hour later. It was about 10 p. m. before officers broke into the house and rescued the victim and placed the two men under arrest.

SAVANNAH, Ga.—A gang of white yegmen, who described as "not so smart" by the citizens thereabouts, stole a 300-pound iron safe from Coca Cola bottling plant here and started off with it on the running-board of an automobile. A policeman saw the strange conveyance and gave chase, whereupon the thieves dropped the safe off on the pavement. Now the fact was, the safe contained no money, nor anything negotiable.

U. S. Court Acts On Power of Notaries

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 9.—The question whether notaries public in Ohio may commit for contempt persons who refuse to produce records and decline to answer questions when subpoenaed was argued today before the United States supreme court.

Sheriff David M. Rieger of Lucas County, who is holding three men declared in contempt, was represented by Newton D. Baker and Raymond T. Jackson.

A federal district court and the sixth circuit court of appeals challenged the authority of the notary public but the Ohio supreme court sustained him. The men are Charles M. Bevan, John W. Koehman and Robert A. Stranahan.
